Ref ID: 41-06 HIV and Syphilis Trends

The attached information is in response to questions posed at our department's hearing on October 1, 2015, to discuss the proposed 2016 budget.

Alderman David Moore asked for the total number of new HIV and syphilis cases identified in 2015 as well as historical data to determine the most recent trends.

The attached table and graph display 10-year trends in HIV infection and primary and secondary syphilis diagnoses from 2005 to 2014. These data are reported to CDPH by providers who diagnose HIV and/or syphilis. Given reporting delays, data for 2014 are provisional and 2015 data are not yet available. As illustrated in the table, the number of HIV diagnoses has decreased over the last ten years, from 1,332 in 2005 to 972 in 2014. The number of primary and secondary syphilis cases has increased over the last ten years, from 418 in 2005 to 643 in 2014. Both of these trends are consistent with national trends as well as trends observed in large urban areas.

As always, please let me know if you have any further questions.

The information below is in response to questions posed at our department's hearing on October 1, 2015, to discuss the proposed 2016 budget.

Alderman Hairston asked for a description of the program model of the Crisis Intervention Program and how many patients received care through the new model.

The Crisis Intervention Pilot Project is a collaboration between CDPH and the Chicago Police Department (CPD). The project is designed to encourage the development and implementation of a service delivery model that supports CPD's Crisis Intervention Teams (CITs) as they respond to mental health-related service calls. The overall goal of this pilot project is to improve mental health service linkage and service coordination for residents in mental health crisis who are interfacing with CPD. Additionally, the project works to strengthen collaboration among CPD, CDPH, mental health providers, and social service providers in an effort to improve access to care.

Individuals serviced from June through September 2015:

- # of patients assessed: 99
- # of referrals
  - Internal: 41
  - External: 49
  - Refused: 9

The information below and attached is in response to questions posed at our department's hearing on October 1, 2015, to discuss the proposed 2016 budget.

Alderman Moore asked for details on the transition of patients as a result of the department's mental health reforms that occurred in 2012. Attached is a copy of our 2014 Mental Health Services Report that includes a summary of how we successfully developed individual transition plans for 429 clients and monitored their transitions.

As part of the department's reforms, CDPH reviewed all client records and identified 2,798 clients who had had an appointment at any of its 12 mental health centers during the prior 12-month period. These clients became the focus of the department's efforts to ensure a successful transition to one of the existing six CDPH mental health centers or to one of the new health network providers. Transition actions focused on three areas: communications, outreach and quality. By the end of May 2012, 85% of clients (2,369)

remained with one of the six CDPH mental health centers, while just 15% (429) were transferred to a network provider. Individual transition plans were developed for each client and CDPH staff monitored their progress for a minimum of two months. At the time of the transition, CDPH informed transferred clients that if they were not satisfied with their new provider, they would be welcomed back; only 63 clients returned.

Mental Health Services Report

June 2014

The City of Chicago is dedicated to ensuring access to quality mental health services for our residents. As part of these efforts, the Chicago Department of Public Health (CDPH) partners with service providers, makes targeted investments to strengthen the City's overall mental health system, leads a citywide initiative to enroll residents in insurance options now available under the Affordable Care Act and provides direct mental health services to uninsured residents through our own clinics.

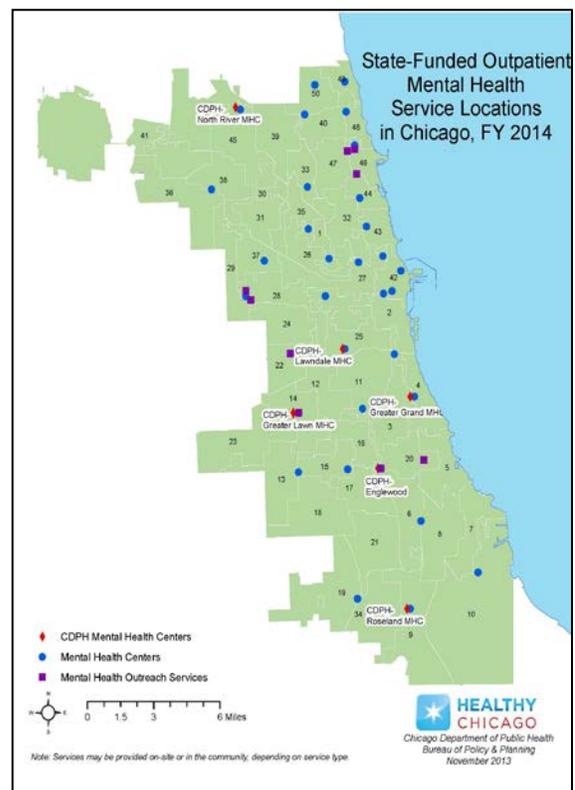

As a result of these efforts, more residents have access to more quality mental health services across Chicago.

Strengthening Chicago's Mental Health System

State and Federal Investments

In addition to mental health investments and resources provided by the City of Chicago, Chicago has an extensive and long-standing mental health service delivery system that includes hospitals, long term care facilities, government agencies, community-based health centers, non-profit providers, faith-based community providers and private clinicians providing mental health care for residents in need.

As part of this system, the State of Illinois provides funding to support outpatient mental health services to approximately 35,000 Chicago residents each year. Additionally, as a result of the Affordable Care Act, over $20 million has been invested in Chicago's network of Federally Qualified Health Centers (FQHCs) since 2010 to provide low income residents integrated health care services, including mental health services, which has afforded Chicago residents a more holistic approach to health care. According to the Health Resource and Service Administration between 2010 and 2012, more than 53,000 clients received direct mental health services from a mental health provider at an FQHC in Chicago.

CDPH Investments

Even with the broad array of resources available, CDPH continues to identify areas of need to help ensure access to quality services in every community. As such, over the last three years, CDPH has made

$10.2 million available through investments designed to address areas of need and increase treatment options, including the following:

Investing in Community Psychiatry Services

Since 2012, CDPH has invested $1.5 million in eight mental health agencies to expand psychiatry services for uninsured adults across the city. Just this past year alone, these agencies collectively provided an additional 5,727 psychiatric patient visits as a result of this funding.

Providing Access in Woodlawn and Auburn Gresham

Following the consolidation of CDPH clinics in Woodlawn and Auburn Gresham in 2012, the City worked with Human Resources Development Institute (HRDI) and Thresholds to re-envision these mental health clinics to provide residents in these neighborhoods a more comprehensive set of services in their communities. As a result, residents now have a broader menu of health service, enhanced specialized patient care, increased service delivery and improved patient hours.

In July of 2012, HRDI assumed operations at the former Auburn Gresham clinic. HRDI now offers assertive community treatment, which provides an array of community-based mental health and supportive services for adults with serious and persistent mental illness or co-occurring mental health and medical or substance abuse disorders.

In early 2014, Thresholds opened a new office location at the former Woodlawn clinic. Three mental health outreach teams, each comprised of five to seven case managers, employment specialists and mental health professionals now work in the community delivering services directly through their community-based mental healthcare model.

Launching New Children's Services

CDPH is partnering with the Illinois Children's Healthcare Foundation on a new model of care specifically targeting Chicago youth and families. As a result of this work, the Foundation recently awarded $4 million to launch two new programs providing integrated primary and mental health services to children and youth in the Englewood and Humboldt Park/West Town neighborhoods. The Healthy Minds, Healthy Children, Healthy Chicago initiative is designed to help thousands of children and their families who are impacted by mental health conditions through a team-based treatment approach with a focus on prevention and early intervention.

Supporting Integrated Service Delivery

In addition to promoting the integration of mental health and primary care services, CDPH has prioritized efforts to integrate mental health services with substance abuse treatment and HIV prevention services. In 2012, CDPH secured a $4.1 million, three-year federal grant from the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMSHA) to coordinate behavioral health services in community-based settings to ensure screening, linkages to treatment and evidence-based interventions. By March 2014, the program had already provided funding for 10 delegate agencies to serve nearly 4,500 persons.

Increasing Funding for Mental Health Services for People Living With HIV

Each year, CDPH receives federal funding to support an array of services for people living with HIV/AIDS. In 2012, the Chicago Area HIV/AIDS Integrated Services Council (CAHISC) allocated nearly $1.4 million for mental health services through this grant, which resulted in almost 16,000 mental health visits for nearly 2,400 patients. Since that time, CDPH and CAHISC have increased funding for mental health services by 31%, resulting in a $1.8 million investment in delegate agencies in 2014.

Increasing Access to Care

The Affordable Care Act (ACA) provides millions of Americans – and nearly 400,000 Chicago residents – with new opportunities for health insurance – many for the first time. The ACA also called for one of the largest expansions of mental health services in history as it requires health insurance plans, including those on the Marketplace, to include mental health services.

This means that insured Chicago residents will have access to new mental health providers through their new plans, expanding access to quality care options across the City. In order to help the 400,000 Chicago residents who now qualify for insurance options, Mayor Rahm Emanuel directed CDPH to lead Enroll Chicago!, a city-wide effort providing information and enrollment opportunities for Chicago residents. Activities included more than 100 education events, as well as open enrollment opportunities at City community and senior service centers, CDPH's HIV clinics, public libraries, and at numerous Chicago Housing Authority locations. CDPH also published a report detailing the profile of the City's uninsured residents, helping partner organizations better target their efforts at enrollment.

To ensure clients are our mental health clinics also understood options that may be available to them under the ACA, CDPH partnered with health navigators to provide onsite enrollment counselors at all six CDPH mental health clinics throughout the open enrollment period. More than 250 clients were provided with information about new coverage options and their benefits, including expanded service options, improved prescription drug coverage and reduced expense related to co-pays. As a result of these efforts nearly 60 current clients enrolled in health insurance plans. Any CDPH client who enrolls in health insurance will be provided information about new options available to them, but will also be allowed to remain at their CDPH clinic if they wish, regardless of insurance status.

The State of Illinois has reported that more than 500,000 persons gained health insurance through either the ACA Marketplace or expanded Medicaid as of April, 2014. While specific Marketplace numbers are not yet available for Chicago, 111,126 city residents have enrolled in the expanded Medicaid program – every one of whom now has expanded options for mental health services.

Providing Direct Services

Even with the historic opportunities afforded to Chicago residents under the ACA, a significant portion of the population still do not qualify for health insurance, mostly those who are undocumented. As part of our commitment to work toward access for all residents, CDPH continues to provide direct services to uninsured residents through its six city-run mental health clinics.

Ensuring a Successful Client Transition:

As part of the department's reforms, CDPH reviewed all client records and identified 2,798 clients who had had an appointment at any of its 12 mental health centers during the prior 12-month period. These clients became the focus of the department's efforts to ensure a successful transition to one of the existing six CDPH mental health centers or to one of the new health network providers. Transition actions focused on three areas: communications, outreach and quality.

By the end of May 2012, 85% of clients (2,369) remained with one of the six CDPH mental health centers, while just 15% (429) were transferred to a network provider. Individual transition plans were developed for each client and CDPH staff monitored their progress for a minimum of two months. At the time of the transition, CDPH informed transferred clients that if they were not satisfied with their new provider, they would be welcomed back; only 63 clients returned.

CDPH's mental health clinics were established to provide services mostly to uninsured residents who have limited options compared to those with insurance. Over the past several years, decreased funding from other sources – including a 90% decrease in external funding between 2008 and 2013 – required an increase in investment from the City of Chicago amid difficult economic times and lower city revenue. Additionally, staff vacancies could not be readily filled as the result of a nationwide shortage of psychiatrists.

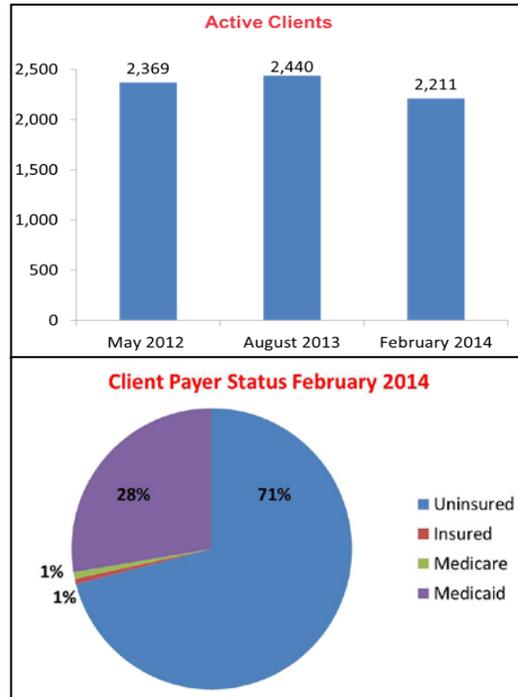

In 2012, it became clear that important health reforms had to be made to the department's direct services to ensure continued operation for those most in-need—the uninsured. CDPH leadership sat down with community mental health providers and advocacy groups to develop a plan that would leverage a larger network of service providers while making the necessary improvements to CDPH's own system to ensure sustainability following ACA implementation.

As a result of these meetings, CDPH consolidated the then-12 clinics into six, ensuring necessary levels of staffing and clinic hours available at each location. A key part of the transition was the creation of individual transition plans for each CDPH client impacted by the reform, ensuring a successful transition of each client to either one of the consolidated clinic locations or a new service provider (see box).

The resulting reforms maintained capacity for new uninsured residents to be seen at City clinics. In addition, new strategic investments were made to help serve more residents overall.

Even though more than 400,000 residents have access to other providers under the ACA, the number of active clients served by CDPH clinics has not shifted dramatically since the transition. In fact, at the time of the transition, CDPH clinics had 2,369 active clients. As of February 2014, the clinics had 2,211 active clients – more than 70% of whom were uninsured, demonstrating our commitment to provide uninsured residents access to services.

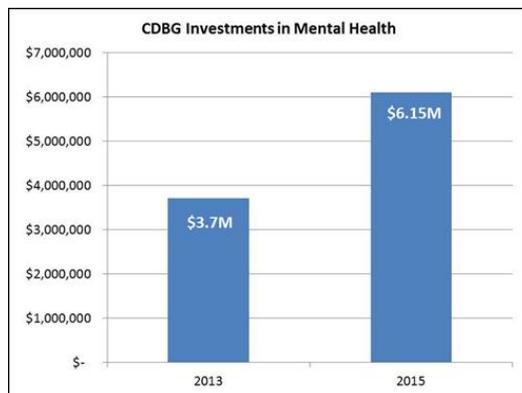

Since CDPH consolidated its mental health clinics, it also earned a three-year accreditation from the Commission for the Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities (CARF). Accreditation was granted following an extensive onsite audit that included the review of case management tools, individual treatment objectives and performance measures, in addition to conversations with clients, staff and other stakeholders.

Moving Forward

Over the past two years, it has become clear that the reforms first implemented 2012 have proven successful – maintaining capacity to serve clients at the City clinics, while strengthening the overall mental health infrastructure amid historic changes under the ACA.

Additionally, the City has expanded its investments into the overall mental health infrastructure by $10.2 million. Moving forward, the City remains committed to continuing this trajectory. Specifically and pending availability, CDPH plans to invest more than $6.15 million through Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funding for mental health services in 2015. This is an increase of nearly two-thirds since 2013, when $3.7 million in CDBG was available for mental health services. As part of this increase, the City has made new funding opportunities available to partner agencies to deliver community-based mental health services.

These investments include (pending available funds):

Mental Health Services for Child and Adolescent Victims of Sexual Assault

This $250,000 investment will be used to increase the availability of mental health services for children and adolescents (ages 17 and under) who are victims of sexual assault in Chicago. Specifically, the program will provide individual, family, and group therapy; case management; and other supportive services that promote engagement in care. This investment will also reduce existing waitlists, ensuring youth receive quality mental health services more quickly.

Crisis Intervention Pilot Project

CDPH will work directly with the Chicago Police Department (CPD) to improve mental health service linkage and service coordination for residents in mental health crisis who are interfacing with CPD. The $100,000 investment will result in a new service delivery model organized by a community-based mental health agency in three CPD districts (2nd, 3rd, and 7th) that record relatively high numbers of mental health-related service calls and police transports to emergency care. The mental health agency will provide a licensed clinician to work with police to deliver triage services for the subjects of those calls to ensure they are linked to mental health treatment and ongoing services.

New Investments in Restorative Justice

Understanding that exposure to violence and other traumas during early childhood increases the likelihood that youth will experience more psychological, social, interpersonal and other challenges mental health challenges, CDPH will invest $370,000 in local agencies operating restorative justice programs focused on elementary school aged youth and their families. The new program will contribute to social and emotional development by teaching youth valuable skills in building and repairing relationships with their classmates, teachers, family and community.

As part of our efforts to ensure a safety net for uninsured residents, CDPH will continue to monitor the success of the reforms implemented at its own clinics and make additional improvements as needed. In addition, we will continue to expand our partnerships and other efforts to improve the City's overall mental health infrastructure in the months and years ahead.

By working more closely with partners across the City, improving our own services and making smarter investments in areas where need is greatest, we will continue to improve the City's mental health infrastructure for the foreseeable future.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH
CITY OF CHICAGO

MEMORANDUM

To: The Honorable Carrie Austin
Chair, Committee on Budget & Government Operations

From: Julie Morita, M.D.
Commissioner
Chicago Department of Public Health

CC: Samantha Fields
Mayor's Office of Legislative Counsel and Government Affairs

Date: October 5, 2015

Re: Request for Information from Annual Appropriation Committee Hearing

Ref ID: 41-17 Mental Health Spending

The information below is in response to questions posed at our department's hearing on October 1, 2015, to discuss the proposed 2016 budget.

Alderman Hairston asked for details regarding how mental health funding was spent in 2015. As detailed in the 2015 Budget Overview, CDPH was allocated $9,586,097 for mental health services. The majority of this funding is for direct services provided by CDPH clinics. In addition, CDPH makes a number of targeted community investments to strengthen Chicago's overall mental health infrastructure, including:

- Cook County Jail Collaboration. CDPH launched a $250,000 initiative with the Cook County Sheriff's office linking Chicago residents to care who are released from jail and in need of ongoing mental health services. Thresholds is funded by CDPH to provide on-site individualized discharge planning, benefits enrollment and direct care linkage support services such as housing and case management.
- Psychiatry Services. Understanding the need for increased access to psychiatry services, CDPH invested an additional $250,000 in six community-based mental health agencies to provide psychiatry services to mentally ill adults. Five of these programs serve Chicago's South and West Sides where there is greater need for additional mental health capacity.

- Crisis Intervention. When a resident in a mental health crisis is interfacing with the police, a community-based partner will provide mental health triage services in a hospital setting as an attempt to link the individual to appropriate mental health services. This two-year pilot follows a $200,000 investment from CDPH.
- Child Survivors of Sexual Assault. The Chicago Children's Advocacy Center has expanded their evidence-based program providing counseling services to child survivors of sexual assault and their family members following a $250,000 investment from CDPH per year for two years.
- Engagement of Hard to Reach Populations. CDPH has made $250,000 available to engage hard-to-reach populations with mental illness, including both homeless adults as well as undocumented residents who do not have access to insurance opportunities under the Affordable Care Act.

As always, please let me know if you have any further questions.

Ref ID: 41-18 Infectious Disease Tracking

The information below is in response to questions posed at our department's hearing on October 1, 2015, to discuss the proposed 2016 budget.

Alderman Ervin asked for a summary of the infectious diseases that CDPH tracks. The communicable disease program at CDPH tracks 73 reportable infectious diseases or conditions on an ongoing basis. Clinicians and hospitals are legally required to share information about these reportable diseases with CDPH to ensure we can do appropriate investigations and limit the spread of disease. The 73 diseases include diagnosed diseases like measles and mumps, clusters of unexplained illness including possible bioterrorism threats, and outbreak situations like foodborne illnesses. In addition, since October 2014, CDPH has been tracking all travelers from Ebola-affected West African countries for 21 days following their arrival to the United States so we can quickly identify illness and appropriately diagnose and treat possible Ebola patients.

Some of the more commonly tracked reportable diseases are as follows:

The information below is in response to questions posed at our department's hearing on October 1, 2015, to discuss the proposed 2016 budget.

Alderman Arena asked for a list of the roles and responsibilities for the violence prevention program and whether the staff manages grant-related programming. Please find the information below:

Office of Violence Prevention & Behavioral Health Funded Programs

Chicago Dating Matters Initiative (CDMI)

Dating Matters was developed as a comprehensive public health approach to the primary prevention of teen dating violence (TDV). It has been developed based on best available science and practice and utilizes a combination of evidence-informed and evidence-based strategies. It gives complementary skills to youth, their peers, parents, and educators while supporting these skills with policy. The specific focus of Dating Matters on 11-14 year-old youth in high risk urban communities was developed to stop dating violence before it begins.

Restorative Practices

Through the expanded use of restorative justice practices, the program aims to prevent youth violence and victimization and support students affected by violence. In addition, the program would provide increased availability of relevant and effective recovery services and supports. The Restorative Justice Practice program encourages a “whole school” adoption of restorative practices. Applicants partner with elementary schools (age 8-14 years) in high-risk communities to train, coach, and support school students and personnel in the use of restorative practices with students, staff, and parents.

Crisis Intervention Pilot Project

The Crisis Intervention Pilot Project is collaboration between CDPH and the Chicago Police Department (CPD). The project is designed to encourage the development and implementation of a service delivery model that supports CPD’s Crisis Intervention Teams (CITs) as they respond to mental health-related service calls. The overall goal of this pilot project is to improve mental health service linkage and service coordination for residents in mental health crisis who are interfacing with CPD. Additionally, the project works to strengthen collaboration among CPD, CDPH, mental health providers, and social service providers in an effort to improve access to care.

Crisis Response and Recovery

The Crisis Response and Recovery Initiative is an initiative developing a citywide response model for Chicago's survivors of homicide. CRR will develop a unified strategy and protocol for the partnership of crisis response and recovery providers (including police, emergency medical services, hospitals, schools, mental health and social service providers, and others), increase access to immediate crisis response services for survivors and their families., enhance ongoing coordinated, trauma-informed community support and mental health services infrastructure for survivors and their families, and assess protocols for citywide implementation and sustainability and expand services to other areas of Chicago accordingly.

Mental Health Services for Child and Adolescent Victims of Sexual Assault

This program will increase the availability of mental health services for children and adolescents (ages 17 and under) who are victims of sexual assault in Chicago. Specifically, the program will augment the current therapy services provided to children and adolescents with the goal of reducing the amount of time it takes to receive mental health services and minimizing waitlists. CDPH will identify one to two mental health agencies to provide mental health services to at least 75 children and adolescents that are victims of sexual assault. The mental health services these agencies must provide should include individual, family, and group therapy; case management; and other supportive services that promote engagement in care. Mental health therapies proposed as part of this program should have a precedent within the agency and include best practices and empirically validated practices whenever possible.

Ref ID: 41-21 Structure and Role of CDPH Human Resources

The information below is in response to questions posed at our department's hearing on October 1, 2015, to discuss the proposed 2016 budget.

Alderman Arena asked for information regarding the structure and role of CDPH's human resources unit.

In 2016, CDPH is proposing a reorganization of its human resources unit. This reorganization was initiated because CDPH leadership did not believe that the unit was being used to its full capacity to support the hiring, training, evaluation, and ongoing management of staff.

As part of the re-organization, CDPH met with the Department of Human Resources (DHR) and Office of Budget and Management (OBM) to get input on optimal structure. Additionally, CDPH met with DFSS, Libraries, and Planning and Development to understand their HR structures. As a result of these efforts, CDPH is proposing the following reorganization:

The responsibilities of each of these units include:

- Compensation & Timekeeping:
  - Receiving employee edits and inputting into Kronos.
  - Managing payroll and paystub distribution.
  - Overtime payments.
  - Employee settlements.
  - Employee mileage reimbursement.
  - Monitoring and reporting employee absentee time.

- Labor Relations
  - Administers bargaining unit contracts and city personnel rules.
  - Participates in union negotiations.
  - Administers the employee grievance and disciplinary process.
  - Serves as liaison between management and the four unions representing CDPH staff: AFSCME, Illinois Nurses Association, Teamsters, and International Brotherhood of Carpenters. Also serves as liaison between CDPH and the City's Corporate Counsel.
  - Administers reduction in the work force actions.

- Staffing & Benefits
  - Develops the department's hiring plan and supervises staff engaged in coordinating the interviewing and hiring of employees and payroll processing activities.
  - Manages all aspects of the hiring process for the department including intake sessions, scheduling interviews, organizing the hire packet, etc. Investigates complaints lodged by employees.

- Processes new hires, employee benefit information, leave of absences, transfers, employee verification, etc.
- Maintains employees' personnel files, etc.
- Health & Safety
  - Coordinates annual training of all staff on employee health and safety—a requirement for healthcare providers.
  - Ensures annual vaccination of health care delivery staff.
  - Manages CDPH's employee wellness initiatives.
  - Monitors and intervenes in all incidents regarding employee health and safety.
  - Performs annual reporting to OSHA.
  - Reviews and monitors all Workers Compensation claims to ensure their validity.

CDPH elected to eliminate a vacant Senior Personnel Assistant position that was no longer necessary in the revised structure. The remaining employees will be needed to continue to work with four unions and with staff covering 27 sites across Chicago.

As always, please let me know if you have any further questions.

Ref ID: 41-22 Meningitis Response

The information below is in response to questions posed at our department's hearing on October 1, 2015, to discuss the proposed 2016 budget.

Alderman Tunney asked for information about the next steps on the meningitis response, specifically regarding outreach to African American men who have sex with men (MSM) and community partners.

As you know, we were able to make tremendous strides following the meningitis outbreak this summer, in large part thanks to collaboration with community organizations as well as the City Council's LGBT and African American Caucuses.

To date, we have distributed 14,780 vaccines to 79 partner sites. The last reported case of meningitis occurred on July 4.

Even with this success, we continue to remain vigilant. We host a biweekly conference call with community partners and continue to work with partners to sponsor vaccination drives at key events throughout the community. Last weekend, we partnered with Howard Brown Health Center to provide vaccines at Love Fest, the Chicago Black Gay Men's Caucus's annual festival designed to increase awareness of health and wellness management among black MSM. In addition, we are working with healthcare providers to ensure their HIV-positive patients receive the necessary follow-up second dose as recommended by the CDC.

The attached information is in response to questions posed at our department's hearing on October 1, 2015, to discuss the proposed 2016 budget.

Alderman Tunney asked if there are plans to hire a position for the LGBT Health office in the near future. As indicated in the budget, there is a position budgeted for 2016 specific to the Office of LGBT Health. In the absence of this position, CDPH Deputy Commissioner of External Affairs Brian Richardson has been charged with engagement of the LGBT community. Mr. Richardson was successful in coordinating LGBT community partners as part of the City's meningitis efforts.

In addition, we have recently hired a new Director of Community Engagement and Planning who will be responsible for ensuring every program within CDPH is focused on improving the health and well-being of groups facing disproportionately adverse health outcomes, including Chicago's LGBT population.

Lastly, CDPH's HIV/STI Division leadership and support staff remain committed to engaging the LGBT community, both directly and through our partner agencies that provide services to the LGBT community.

The information below is in response to questions posed at our department's hearing on October 1, 2015, to discuss the proposed 2016 budget.

Alderman Tunney asked for information on the increase in line 0140.

The $2.6 million increase in line 0140 is driven by the redirection of approximately $4.3 million in HIV primary care service funds from accounts 9018 and 9129 to 0140. This increase was offset in part by a reduction of $1.1 million in HIV prevention services redirected from corporate funds to the HIV Prevention Grant.

In addition to HIV primary care services, line 0140 also includes CDPH's contract with UIC Lab Services for lab fees for client testing at our STI clinics (~$545,000) and environmental management and electronics disposal service fees (~$234,000).

The information below is in response to questions posed at our department's hearing on October 1, 2015, to discuss the proposed 2016 budget.

Alderman Tunney asked for information on the average time for food inspections and any new initiatives in food sanitation that we would like to highlight.

Food inspection times vary based on a numerous factors, but averages are as follows:

- The overall average inspection time is two hours.
- For risk 1 (high-risk) establishments, the average is three hours.
- For risk 2 (medium-risk) establishments, the average time is 1.5 hours.
- We do not tabulate an average for risk 3 (low-risk) establishments.
- Our follow-up and complaint-based inspections average one hour.

When a food establishment requests a follow-up inspection to show that it is now in compliance, we conduct the inspection within one business day.

Our recent initiatives in food inspection include the following:

- Predictive analytics. As part of prioritizing inspections we use a predictive model to determine which food establishments are most likely to have a critical or serious violation based on 13 criteria. We prioritize these establishments for inspection, allowing CDPH to work with operators to identify and address violations 15 days sooner.

- Foodbornechicago.org. This web app was developed out of a public-private partnership with Smart Chicago. It searches Twitter for mentions of food poisonings in Chicago, enabling CDPH to target inspections where we are most likely to find violations. More than 300 reports have been filed, leading to investigations that may not have happened otherwise. In some cases, this monitoring tool has led us to investigate food poisonings faster than with other reporting methods.
- Inspection Standardization Program. As part of a commitment to quality improvement, we have increased inspection consistency among sanitarians. We developed standard operating procedures that have led to a 92% decrease in the number of discrepancies during inspections.
- Self-Inspection Program. Despite our success on food safety, our program is underfunded by the state, preventing us from meeting the state's mandates on the frequency of inspections. Accordingly, Mayor Emanuel has introduced an ordinance allowing CDPH to require low-risk food establishments such as convenience stores to conduct self-inspections every two years. This requirement would bring CDPH closer to meeting state mandates and allow food operators to be more proactive. It would also help us continue to use our limited inspection resources wisely by focusing on higher-risk food establishments. We previously piloted a voluntary self-inspection program, and based on that pilot, we believe participation by low-risk food establishments must be required.

The information below is in response to questions posed at our department's hearing on October 1, 2015, to discuss the proposed 2016 budget.

Alderman Tunney asked for information about HIV prevention dollars. Our budget maintains funding for community-based agencies to provide direct HIV prevention services. In the corporate line, there is a reduction of $1.1 million, bringing the total down to approximately $3.3 million. The $1.1 million was redirected to the HIV Prevention grant funded by the CDC, made available by staffing changes. These funds will be allocated to community-based agencies, ensuring level funding for the 2016 year.

In addition, CDPH was recently awarded $3 million from the CDC to expand existing PrEP and Data-to-Care initiatives that are vital to reducing HIV transmission rates. The majority of this funding will be made available to community-based agencies through an upcoming RFP.

Ref ID: 41-28 HIV Primary Care

The attached information is in response to questions posed at our department's hearing on October 1, 2015, to discuss the proposed 2016 budget.

Alderman Tunney asked for information about CDPH's HIV primary care proposal and our plans to ensure clinic patients do not drop out of care.

CDPH proposes to issue an RFP to transition our two HIV primary care clinics to community-based partners. Chicago is fortunate to have a comprehensive network of providers that offer high-quality HIV/AIDS services including medical care, mental health care, substance abuse treatment and other supportive services.

- For the Englewood clinic, we would identify a community-based partner to provide services in the same location at 641 W. 63rd St.
- For the Uptown clinic, we would encourage our community-based partner to provide services in our current location at 845 W. Wilson Ave., but given the number of providers in the area, we would not require it in the RFP. We would, however, require that the partner serve residents in Uptown.

As we discussed with Alderman Tunney and the City Council, this proposal would expand service delivery to 1,500 additional residents living with HIV/AIDS.

This proposal to expand services comes at the request of our HIV planning council (CAHISC) and has the support of the AIDS Foundation of Chicago. CDPH will work with CAHISC to allocate funding and to ensure that patients are not lost to care by supporting expanded case management and linkage into care services.
